Judge George W. Wheeler Addresses Brief Remarks to Attorneys in Clark Case.

Stoddard As An Example Mrs. Clark Does Not Obtain Writ of Prohibition—Her Lawyers May Appeal from Decision of Probate Court — "Lawyer Not Trade, But Profession," Says Judge.

Judge George W. Wheeler, sitting in the superior court this morning, made brief remarks, which were at least an implied rebuke to counsel in the Clark case, because evidence in the case had been given publicly in advance of its appearance in court. In the course of his remarks, which were not intended for the public, Judge Wheeler remarked that the law is not a trade, but a profession, and advised counsel to emulate the example of Goodwin Stoddard, saying:

"If you would look for an example of highest professional excellence and greatest eminence take your own chief, Goodwin Stoddard. In the twenty-six years of acquaintance with him, I have never known of practice I have never known a violation of this provision of professional conduct. The law isn't a trade, it's a profession. Let us keep it so."

Judge Wheeler then allowed the demurrer, as presented by Attorney Stevenson, counsel for Judge Peck, to stand, and gave an allowance for the writ of prohibition. Let us keep it so."

GAYNOR'S DECISION SHUTS OUT JEROME

Neither He Nor Any of His Assistants Will Take Part in Thaw Sanity Hearing.

New York, July 10.—In view of the stinging and sarcastic decision of Justice Gaynor in which he refused to order the sanity hearing of Harry Thaw changed to New York County, neither District Attorney Jerome nor any of his assistants will take part in the proceedings which will begin at White Plains on Monday. Jerome was very anxious personally to oppose Thaw's plea for release but in ordering the trial to go on at White Plains instead of in New York City, Justice Gaynor scored the methods of Jerome in former trials.

Jerome is not now in New York but his District Attorney, Smythe, declared the district attorney's office would have nothing to do with the trial which will have to be conducted for the state by a deputy attorney general. Smythe declared, however, that all the records of the various Thaw cases in Jerome's office would be available for the state if they desired to use them.

Superintendent Laub of the asylum at Matteawan where Thaw has been confined to-day declared that the Attorney General's office had made no effort to examine the records in the district attorney's office.

HORSE'S KICK MADE EASTWOOD INSANE

The case of William Eastwood of Andover street has taken a more serious aspect than was at first supposed. When he was kicked by the horse last Tuesday he suffered only from a bruise on his head, but has now become violently insane, and is breaking up furniture and everything in general at the Lakeview confined. Mr. Eastwood is married and has been employed driving a bakery wagon.

The Newfields will play the Orioles at the meadows Sunday afternoon at 3:30. This is the first time the Orioles have played the Newfields and a good game is expected. Tommy Downey of the Cincinnati will be home over Sunday and may umpire the game.

WIDOWED CLERK GETS 60 DAYS

SHE WAS CONVICTED ON "SPOT-TER'S" EVIDENCE OF THEFT OF $1.35 IN GRANT STORES, WHERE SHE MANAGED BASEMENT

Protests Her Innocence Declared that She Received Money in Her Pay Envelope—Earned $6 a Week, Was of Advanced Years and Cared for Daughter—Her Case Excites Much Sympathy.

The case of Mrs. Mary Waite, in the city court, this morning, brought forth some idea of the system used in stores in detecting employees who are dishonest. Mrs. Waite was charged with embezzling the sum of $1.35 from the William T. Grant 25 Cent Store, Judge Foster fined the accused $1 and costs and sentenced her to jail for 60 days. She appealed under bonds of $100.

The evidence in this case, as in many others, was secured by a pre-arranged plan, that of marking certain bills and coins and then using them in purchasing goods from the suspected employee. This work was performed by two striking young women, Miss Emma F. Brady and a Miss Theresa Connors, who were selected her location by Prosecuting Attorney DeLaney, said that she was a floorwalker for a dry goods firm in Boston. When pressed further she said that she came to this city to shop the help, and demurely acknowledged that she was "a female detective."

"To shop the help" is the name of the honesty. Miss Brady was a very neatly dressed young woman, and looked as if she might play a front row part among the ladies in the chorus of "The Beauty Spot." Her companion in the work was every bit as stylishly dressed. She was attired in a checkered skirt that spoke for itself. Both testified to having purchased some pictures, towels, and ten yards of cheese cloth of Mrs. Waite, and to having seen her place the money they gave her in her pocket.

Mrs. Waite testified that the Grant concern paid her but $6.00 a week for managing the basement department. Every evening she said, as each employee enters the store she must give up her pocketbook at the office. Mrs. Waite declared that when the manager of the store, William E. Grant, charged her yesterday afternoon with having the marked money in her possession, he grabbed her roughly and tore her dress in taking the money from her.

Mrs. Waite is a very respectable woman. She is more than 60 years of age, told an apparently frank story of how the money came in her possession.

She said she had kept the money out of her pay when she received it at noon so that she might purchase some handkerchiefs in a department upstairs for a birthday present for a Mrs. Rice, who is employed with Mrs. Waite. She said that she had an account for the money being marked unless she received marked money in her pocket.

Mr. Grant in his testimony said that Mrs. Waite had proved a most faithful worker and never before had she shown cause in any way to be suspected of being dishonest.

Mrs. Waite is a widow and poor. She has a 16 year old daughter who was in court this morning. Mrs. Waite said she found it difficult to make both ends meet on her salary, and had often pawned articles from her home. Her case, which is a sad one, will be heard again in the Common Pleas Court in September.

BAKER TO KEEP LID DOWN ON THE GAMBLERS

(Special from United Press.)

New York, July 10.—The glorious trial of the gambling machine in the Bingham men saw returning when General Bingham was deposed as New York's police commissioner, are far away, according to a statement made by the new commissioner, William H. Baker, to-day. "If western gamblers or sure thing men are flocking to New York with the impression that the lid is going to come off which I am on the job, they had better purchase return railroad tickets for their old stands before their cash gives out," says the commissioner. "The town will stay closed as tight as my endeavors can make it. I don't want doors or windows smashed down with the expectation of finding lawlessness when a few hours difference may mean the securing of evidence in a decent orderly way. I will not tolerate thug methods by politicians."

Commissioner Baker took occasion to renounce Senator McCarren. "I have always figured McCarren against me," he said, "and he knows I have opposed him. McCarren had nothing to do with my appointment as police commissioner."

RAID BY POLICE IN HARTFORD NETS BIG COURT RETURNS

(Special from United Press.)

Hartford, July 10.—Fines aggregating approximately $1,000 were collected to-day as a result of wholesale raids conducted in the tenderloin district of this city last night. Grace Hemmenway, Kate Lamphere, Clara Lewis, Belle Young and Amelia Beebe were fined $100 and costs each on the charge of keeping a disorderly house and Tony Mouset and Jennie Capetrow, in addition to being fined were sentenced to 60 days in jail each.

The others were fined $10 each on the charge of frequenting

MAYOR FINDS NEW HAVEN RAILROAD WAS NOT OFFICIALLY INFORMED OF CITY'S SHAMEFUL SURRENDER

Grooved Rails Not Ordered Vice President Never Had Been Informed of Understanding Between Aldermen Bullard and Mr. Mellen by Which Lee's Railroad Surrender Plans Were to Be Executed.

Citizens of the city, particularly the merchants of Main street, will be pleased to hear that the time when permanent pavement will be laid in Main street is somewhere in the dim distant future. When Aldermen Gould and Bullard went to New Haven and fixed up the harbor line matter with Mr. Mellen they reported to the Common Council that Mr. Mellen had promised to lay grooved rails in Main street. When the matter was put through the council it was supposed that grooved rails would be secured by the railroad at once. This was a month ago. Since then Director Blitt has stated that he was ready to go ahead with the paving as soon as the railroad had laid grooved rails.

Mayor Lee told the Paving Commission last night that he telephoned to Vice President Townley who has the contract for the paving of the city and he was surprised to hear that Bridgeport expected grooved rails to be laid, and was not aware of the agreement that had been made by Mr. Mellen. The Mayor said that Vice President Townley had assured him that he would look into the matter at once and order the rails for Bridgeport. The grooved rail which he told the Mayor he would secure is called the "Boston" Engineer McKenna said that was the best.

If the railroad has to place an order with a steel plant for the rails it is quite likely that another election will come and go before the dirt roadway has been replaced by grooved rails.

Vice President Townley said the company had never received any notification of the action of the council. Whether the slip was made by Aldermen Gould and President Mellen, or between President Mellen and Vice President Townley is not known. The Mayor caused an official notice of the action of the council sent to Vice President Townley last night.

ALDRICH BILL BAD, LIKELY TO BE MUCH WORSE

Views of House Leaders Upon the Tariff Legislation As It Comes from the Senate.

What the House leaders think of the Aldrich Bill, (Republican), which was passed by the Senate, is not known. The House Ways and Means Committee, (Republican), which is now working on the bill, is expected to report on it soon. The House leaders are expected to be much disappointed because he has been left off the conference committee.

More conservative manufacturers of New England feel that they will be driven to seek foreign markets to get an output for their products. The eastern and southern manufacturers are being rapidly taken from the Eastern producers by the construction of great plants in other sections of the country. New York, Chicago, and St. Louis, steel, copper and iron mills, are now generally constructed near the raw material. Hill understands these things and he would not care to have taken care of the New England industries better than any other man. That is why it was hoped that the House would not pass the bill.

Senator Aldrich last evening had an extended conference with President Taft.

The President questioned Mr. Aldrich about many of the amendments to the tariff bill made by the Senate, but it is said that he did not criticize any of the proceedings in that body except the amendment to the corporation tax provision making it applicable to holding companies. The inference gained by Mr. Taft's callers is that he would not care to have the adoption of an amendment taxing the next earnings of corporations unless the utmost caution was taken to prevent double taxation.

After the conference with the President Mr. Aldrich said that it might be necessary to entirely re-draft the corporation tax provision in the bill. If this was done, he said, the provision would be along the lines of that agreed upon at the recent White House conference.

Democrats Excluded.

All of the conferees, including the Democratic members, met in the Senate office building in conference last night. They were in session about an hour when the Democratic members were dismissed. Senator Bailey and Representative Champ Clark were left together, laughingly told a number of waiting newspaper men that they could not expect much help from the Democrats in covering the news of the conference.

"We have been dismissed," said Mr. Bailey, "and we will not be called in again until the majority completes its job of fooling the people."

WALL STREET TO-DAY.

(Special from United Press.)

New York, July 10.—A strong tone was displayed at the opening of the stock market and in the early trading with a majority of stocks showing fractional gains at the end of the first fifteen minutes, the freely circulated rumor about the coming increase in the Illinois Central dividend made the stock one of the strongest on the floor, the demand carrying it up nearly a point.

It was a generally better tone all through the first hour with a number of stocks making a fair advance. The Illinois Central advanced about 153. Reading made a slight advance after the opening. Changes in the railroad stocks were generally in small fractions and without importance. In governments the four registered decline of one half per cent, other bonds firm.

Closing.—The stock market was almost at a standstill in the last hour, prices of the majority of the issues showing very little change from yesterday's close. Reading retained its earlier loss and a slightly firmer tone was established in Erie, New York Central and Canadian Pacific, the last named showing a gain of over one point. The Traction stocks as a group were heavy.

Government bonds unchanged; other bonds firm.

High temperatures were reported from Texas and Oklahoma. The area of high pressure that has been producing such dry, pleasant weather in the lake region and New England during the past few days is now moving out to sea and will be followed by a change to the westward. A period of low pressure with higher temperature and increasing amount of humidity and cloudiness and probably local showers.

HILL NOT ON CONFERENCE COMMITTEE

CANNON VIOLATED PRECEDENTS OF 40 YEARS IN JUMPING ANOTHER MAN OVER HILL'S HEAD

Favored Downward Revision New England Manufacturers Looking to Foreign Markets for An Output Want Lower Schedules and Free Raw Materials—Aldrich Talks With Taft.

(Special to the Farmer.)

Washington, July 10.—Speaker Cannon refused to make Representative Hill a member of the conference committee on the tariff bill. This is a serious blow to many New England Manufacturing interests of which Hill is typically representative in desiring a downward revision of the tariff. For it should be known that at the present time the tariff is only in a limited sense a question in which the ordinary man has become interested. The forces which have been put in motion to make a lower system of schedules on the one hand and a higher system on the other have been given momentum by opposing groups of manufacturers, one group desiring free trade, or free trade in certain articles; the other group desiring a protection to the highest power of the cube.

The attitude of the manufacturer upon this important question is determined by the nature of the goods he has reached a stage where he believes that he can manufacture at a cost which will enable him to compete in the world market. He desires a low tariff on goods, or none, for the reasons that a country which can sell its own goods freely to this country will also be able to sell its goods to this country.

Other manufacturers use great quantities of raw material upon which they pay a duty. Even if they wish the duty retained on the manufactured goods, they desire it removed from the raw material. In this class are the manufacturers of shoes, an important industry in New England.

Bridgeport is the home of strong manufacturing interests which much desire a lower schedule. Such are the industries engaged in rolling iron and steel, the manufacture of tubing. The heads of these concerns desire free scrap iron, or at least a low duty upon scrap iron and a low duty upon pig iron, which would open to them sources of raw material now available under a high tariff, and free them from the domination of the steel trust.

If these interests have confidence in Hill, they are much disappointed because he has been left off the conference committee.

More conservative manufacturers of New England feel that they will be driven to seek foreign markets to get an output for their products. The eastern and southern manufacturers are being rapidly taken from the Eastern producers by the construction of great plants in other sections of the country. # RUSSIA PERTURBED OVER SCANDAL

(Special from United Press.)

St. Petersburg, July 10.—A diplomatic incident that threatens to assume grave proportions is growing out of the announcement of Prime Minister Clemenceau of France that General Michael Landesen, chief of the Russian foreign secret service, with headquarters in Paris, is really a Russian Anarchist, Hekkelmann, who was sentenced to a term of imprisonment for complicity in the plot to kill the Czar during his visit to France in 1880.

The French authorities have taken the matter very seriously and the French Ambassador at St. Petersburg already has or is able to make a formal demand on the Russian Foreign Office for an explanation. The points at issue in the demand will be the Russian persuaded France to bestow a Knighthood upon Landesen, a traitor and spy, and to make him an officer of the Legion of Honor, the mark of respect most dear to the French nation.

The Foreign Office is much perturbed over the affair as it now appears very likely that the scandal will precede the intended visit of the Czar to France, during his European tour. The affair may, when fully developed, involve Eugene in the trouble as revelations of the police point of the Russian-English aspect of the trouble. Landesen is understood to be living very privately in London.

GRIPPIN SUES CITY TO GET TAX PAYMENT BACK

Wealthy Manufacturer Alleges That His Partially Completed Residence on Park Avenue Was Over Assessed $9,500.

The Amount of Excess Payment Was $150.10—Papers Served on City Clerk Buckingham This Morning—Common Council Declines to Give Relief.

William A. Grippin, a wealthy manufacturer, and president of the Bridgeport Malleable Iron Co., brought suit, to-day, against the city of Bridgeport, in an action to secure the reimbursement of $150.10 which is the amount of tax paid by him on $9,500 added by the assessors to the value of his residence on Park avenue. Mr. Grippin claims that this was an overvaluation of the property.

The papers were served on City Clerk Edward T. Buckingham, this morning, by City Sheriff Thomas N. Cunningham. They were signed by Edward K. Nicholson as a commissioner of the Superior court.

The complaint declares that the plaintiff was, on Sept. 1, 1908, the record owner of lot of land at Park and Linden avenues, upon which he was causing the erection of a dwelling house the contract price of which was $30,000 and for which ground an aboriginal owner on June 10, 1908. Upon Sept. 1, 1908, the plaintiff had expended for all work done on said house $5,563.57, which had been paid, and which work was about one-sixth completed. Upon the same date the plaintiff says he filed with the assessors his giving the value of the land as $13,000 and the value of the partly erected house as $5,500.

The complaint continues that the assessors afterward "unjustly, arbitrarily and unlawfully" increased the assessment of the plaintiff's interest in the uncompleted dwelling so that it was $9,500 more than the figure named in the list of the plaintiff. The amount levied upon the increase by way of tax was $150.10. May 28, 1909, the plaintiff, in order to avoid the imposition of 9 per cent. upon said amount paid the tax under protest, and the tax collector accepted the payment as under protest.

The plaintiff claims $250.

The suit follows the presentation of Mr. Grippin's claim for a reimbursement of the excess tax to the common council which refused to make the rebate.

CANNON AND PAYNE DIFFER OVER HILL

WAYS AND MEANS CHAIRMAN FAVORED SELECTION IN ORDER OF RANK

For Committee on Conference Connecticut Congressman Known to Be In Favor of Free Lumber and Free Hides and That's Why the Speaker Passed Him Over in Making Appointments—Construction of Real Tariff Bill Now Under Way, Republicans Excluding Democratic Members from Conference Room.

(Special from United Press.)

Washington, July 10.—With the meeting of the Conference committee today the construction of the real tariff bill was placed under way. The Republican members of the committee assembled in a room in the Senate conference building. In accordance with the polite notice given them yesterday, the Democratic members did not come around. As they had not expected to be invited to the meetings they are not disappointed. When the Dingley bill was in conference the Democratic members of the committee were barred out and when the Wilson bill was in that stage the progress the Democrats kept the Republican conferees outside the door until the deed was done.

There is importance attaches to the work of the conference committee because the result of its deliberations will be the real tariff law. When a conference report goes to the Senate or House it must be adopted or rejected in its entirety. No amendments can be made. Members who strenuously oppose certain features of a bill are usually content to stand on the record made in the proceedings and will not vote against an entire measure as represented in that conference report because they do not like certain parts of it.

There will be a substantial group of Republicans, however, in both branches of Congress who will vote against the tariff bill, but practically none of them has any hope of bringing about its defeat. The men in charge are the legislative committee of Congress and Congress have had experience in hundreds of Congresses in the mustering of support for contested bills.

There is much talk at the Capitol today of differences between Speaker Cannon and Chairman Payne of the Ways and Means committee over the appointment of the House conferees. Payne favored the selection of the Republicans in the order of their rank on the Ways and Means committee. Cannon, however, gave Hill, of Connecticut, a place on the conference committee. Hill is for free lumber and free hides. He was passed over, however, by the Ways and Means committee. Cannon, however, gave Hill, of Connecticut, a place on the conference committee. Hill is for free lumber and free hides. He was passed over, however, by the Ways and Means committee.

Both Payne and Aldrich demonstrated on the high tariff vote of Congress that they were not averse to working twelve or fifteen hours a day and some such experience is in prospect for the committee. The work will be completed in a week, but the general expectation is that it will take two weeks.

The corporation tax provision of the bill will be rewritten. One of the changes to be made will exempt holding companies on the ground that an assessment on them would be double taxation and might result in the Supreme court declaring the entire tax unconstitutional.

The morning hours at the White House were consumed in tariff discussion between President Taft and the two House conferees. Apparently all the statesmen were anxious to get the President's views on the pending measure and although the President has not yet given his Executive they were unanimous in declaring that he would insist upon the passage of a bill that would fulfill the party platform.

The list of Senators who visited the President were: Lodge, Dupont, Taylor, Frazier, Smoot, Smith of Michigan, Warner, Burton, Wetmore, Hepburn, Bulkeley, Brandegee, Crane, Burkett, Stephenson and Jones. The Representatives were: Humphrey and Smith of Iowa; Foster, of Missouri; Norris, of Nebraska; Foster, of Illinois; O'Connell, Needham, Dwight, Olcott, Scott and Broussard.

Attorney General Wickersham arrived in the Department of Justice to-day after a week's outing, two days earlier than expected. It is understood that he has been called here by the President to take a hand in the re-drafting of the corporation tax amendment to the tariff bill. He drew the proposed amendment but the changes by the Senate will be made altogether pleasing to the administration, it is said.
